Mrs. Daniels Entertains At Luncheon For Party of Relatives From South

Wife of Secretary of Navy Is Hostess At Informal Affair At Single Oak.

MRS. DANIELS, wife of the Secretary of the Navy, entertained at an informal luncheon today at Single Oak, in compliment to a party of relatives from the South who are stopping in Washington, en route to New York.

Capt. Theodore A. Baldwin, jr., U. S. A., and Mrs. Baldwin, who are spending the summer at Narragansett Pier, entertained at dinner last evening.

Mrs. J. Burnet Crane is giving up the house, 1209 Twentieth street, which she has occupied for the past several seasons, and will leave in a day or two for Plainfield, N. J., where she will visit her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Brown, for several weeks before making visits along the North Shore. Miss Estelle Crane, who is now visiting Mr. and Mrs. Brown, will join a party of friends in Jamestown, R. I., within a fortnight.

Mrs. Crane will spend the winter traveling in the South and Miss Crane will divide her time with her mother and Mrs. Brown.

Brig. Gen. Albert L. Mills, U. S. A., and Mrs. Mills will close their residence in K street and leave Washington this evening for New York, from where they will sail tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock for Panama. They will return in about six or seven weeks, and remain in New York for a visit before coming back to Washington.

The wedding of Virginia T. Bennett and Judge William C. Dunbar, of Augusta, Ga., now postmaster of the House of Representatives, will take place this evening at 8 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. E. L. Chapman, at 212 Wyoming avenue. Rev. Dr. J. C. Nicholson, of the Dumbarton Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, officiating in the presence of a small gathering of relatives and a few intimate friends.

After an informal wedding reception for the bride party, Judge Dunbar and his bride will leave Washington en route to Atlantic City, where they will spend a fortnight. Afterward they will go to Georgia for a visit and will return to Washington to spend the winter.

Former Congressman and Mrs. Martin W. Littleton, of New York, were among the passengers aboard the Imperator, which arrived in New York yesterday afternoon. This vessel, one of the Hamburg-American line, is the biggest and finest on the Atlantic, and carried more cabin passengers than any other ever crossed the Atlantic before in any one vessel. There were 2,116 passengers, and counting the crew, there were more than 4,500 persons aboard.

Other interesting people who made the trip were Mr. and Mrs. August Belmont, the Brazilian minister to Ecuador, R. de Lima y Silva, who was at one time stationed in Washington at the Brazilian embassy, and the Rt. Hon. Alexander M. Carrile, the famous English designer of liners, who is en route to Panama to visit Col. George W. Goethals, chief engineer of the canal.

An interesting engagement, just announced abroad, is that of Mrs. Harry S. Kingsley and the Italian consul general in New York, Mr. Fara Forni. The consul general is quite well known in Washington, and frequently comes here as a guest of the Italian ambassador.

Both Mrs. Kingsley and Mr. Forni are now in Italy, where the wedding will take place in October at the home of Mrs. Kingsley's uncle, Count Fabbriotti, in Leghorn. After a short honeymoon trip the consul general and his bride expect to sail for this country, arriving in New York in November.

Mrs. Kingsley, who was Miss Anna Fabbriotti, has been a widow for about six years, and has resided at 43 Fifth avenue, New York, for several years. In the early spring she went abroad, and has been spending much time in Paris.

MME. PEYNADO, wife of the Minister of the Dominican Republic.

Mme. Peynado, wife of the Minister of the Dominican Republic, is remaining in Washington with their children until late in the month, when they expect to make a visit of several weeks to one of the nearby seashore resorts. Owing to the illness of the younger children with whooping cough, it has been impossible for them to leave the city.

The minister, who is still in South America, will join his family later in the summer.

Miss Marian Lee Patterson and Miss Pearl Edson are guests of Mrs. George H. Shibley, who is spending the summer at Colonial Court, Blue Ridge Summit, Pa.

Mrs. Rosa V. Young, of Winston, N. C., who has been in Canada, is now visiting Mrs. Lula Fagg Morgan, 719 Nineteenth street, before going to Greenbrier Sulphur Springs, Va.

Mrs. William Bailey Lamar, wife of Judge Lamar, entertained informally at luncheon today in compliment to Mrs. Marshall, wife of the Vice President.

Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A., has arrived in London from Rome. He received a permit to go through the lines when the peace conference left for the conference at Bucharest.

Congressman and Mrs. William M. Calder of New York, who have been motoring with their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Justin McCarthy, and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Wood, of Brooklyn, N. Y., in the Berkshire Hills, have returned to Stockbridge, Mass., where they are making their headquarters during their stay in the North.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Kane, of New York, who are guests at Narragansett Pier for the season, entertained at dinner last evening at the Casino, having among their guests Lieut. Commander R. C. Bulmer, U. S. N., and Mrs. Bulmer, of Annapolis and Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Foster have arrived at Lenox, Mass., en route to Poland Springs, Me.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. William E. Smith, of 2384 High street, Anacostia, D. C., has gone to Colonial Beach, Va., for several weeks.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Katherine Parsons, daughter of Mrs. May Parsons, of 43 Rhode Island avenue, to Harold Griswold Reynolds, of Stoughton, Mass. The wedding took place in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, in Baltimore, on August 1, the pastor of the church, the Rev. Fox, officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds are making their home at 418 K street northeast.

Austro-Hungarian Ambassador and Mme. Dumba Guests of Hammonds At Gloucester.

The Austro-Hungarian Ambassador and Mme. Dumba are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Hays Hammond at their summer place, Lookout Hill, at Gloucester, Mass.

Countess Gyszycka, of Chicago and Washington, has been the guest for the last few days of Mrs. Thomas P. Laughlin, at her summer place at Priden Crossing, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke Waggaman are spending a few days in New York en route to Long Island, where they will make a series of visits.

Former Senator Cullum has gone to Atlantic City for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Worden Graham have gone to Fort Screven, Georgia, to visit their son-in-law and daughter, Lieut. and Mrs. R. C. Fagg.

Judge and Mrs. Arthur M. Thompson are spending the month at Monmouth, N. J.

Seen in the Shops

WHEN one is shopping it is wise to stop off for a few minutes at the lingerie counter of a store in G street, at Eleventh, where many pretty, inexpensive garments are worth the very best consideration. Think of underwear that is dainty enough to suit the most fastidious, yet can be washed in a jiffy in the bathtub or bowl and worn without ironing. Can't you see the endless saving of laundry bills? This store is offering these practical garments in plain white, pink, blue, and the daintiest flowered patterns, at from 50 cents to $1.50 each.

The charming little mousseline and messaline princess slips of pink, blue, white, or yellow, daintily trimmed with lace, next receive attention. The store at Tenth and F streets which makes a specialty of things for women and children is offering these essential garments for $2.50 each. Just think of the double service possible with one sheer white dress worn over these dainty colors, the color of which might be effectively emphasized in the sash, giraffe, and collar.

And that reminds me. Aren't those new Lover's Knot sashes the perfectly dear things? They are to be had in any color ribbon, made to order in prices ranging from 50 cents to $1.25, in the department store at Eighth street and Market square.

Of course, you know that Paris is quite mad over mullin hats and pleatings, even using mullin on the bottom of the skirt, as well as for hat trimmings and neck rubbings. It really seems as though no costume were complete without a dab of mullin somewhere. In black or white the pleatings come priced at from 50 cents a yard up to $1.75. In a dry goods store in Seventh street that is having many special sales on account of rebuilding operations.

Trade Boosters Plan Outing Down River

A specially chartered steamer, with brass band and all the other trimmings, will carry members of the Washington Chamber of Commerce down the river on a "boosters outing" next month. The date has not been positively selected, but it will probably be September 11 and 12.

R. P. Andrews, chairman of the committee which has been working on the arrangements, reported to the board of directors of the chamber last night that the trip could be made for about $10 a person, provided as many as 150 men make the trip. The directors approved the plan, and the committee and gave it authority to proceed.

For The Times' Children Just Before It's Bedtime

TOMMIE'S CHOICE.

TOMMIE JONES was only five years old, but he thought a great deal, and sometimes he said things that showed he had a great deal of sense in his little head.

Tommy played by himself most of the time, for he lived in a village where there were very few children, and all of them were older than Tommy, so he had no playmates his own age.

One day a family moved into the house next to where Tommy lived. It was not very near, because the houses were far apart and not like the city houses.

"O, mother, there is a little boy come to live in the next house," Tommy told his mother. "I saw him go in there just now, and he is as big as I am."

That night he came in to supper with a smiling face. "His name is Freddie, and he is five years old, just like me," he told his mother.

The next morning he was up bright and early to play with his new friends, and when he came into his dinner he had many things to tell.

"Oh! mother, Freddie has a cart and a horse that goes all around the floor when you wind it, and he has a baseball and a bat, too," he said.

"He has an Indian suit, too, mother, I wish I had one. Can't I have an Indian suit like Freddie's?"

"I am sorry, dear," replied his mother, "but I am afraid you cannot have all the things Freddie has. Your father has very little money to spend for anything but the things we need."

That night Tommy came home with many more wishes. "Freddie has a music box over at his house," he said. "I wish we had one."

"And he has a big boat that will sail in the water, too; he has a knife with two blades, and mother he has a watch, and he carries it all the time. I wish I could have a watch; can't I, mother?"

"I am afraid my little boy will find Freddie has many things that he does not have and cannot have, for Freddie's father has more money to buy things with than your father," said his mother.

"You must not let it make you unhappy because Freddie has so many things to play with and you so few. Perhaps you will find there is something you have that Freddie has not, if you keep your eyes open, and then you may think you are much more fortunate than Freddie."

"I guess it is not so about Freddie not having everything," said Tommy the next day at the dinner table; "he has a bowling alley up in his attic and a lot of books—so many, mother, that he keeps them in a case with doors on it in his room, and he has a lot of games and everything. I am sure he wouldn't want anything I have. I kept both eyes wide open, and I didn't see that he was without anything. He has lots more than I have, mother, I am sure."

"You keep your eyes open, son," said his mother, "and if I am not mistaken you have something that you would not part with for all of Freddie's toys or even his watch."

Tommy did not look as though he believed what his mother said, but that night when he came in the house there were tears in his big blue eyes, and he ran to the kitchen, where his mother was preparing supper.

"I know what it is he hasn't got that I have," he cried, clinging to his mother's skirt; "Freddie hasn't any mother; his mother is dead."

Tommy's sob came fast and loud, but his mother took him on her lap and soon quieted him.

"Mother knew her boy would not want to change places with poor little Freddie when he knew there was no mother there," she said. "You see, it was wrong to want anything Freddie has, because he hasn't any mother and his father buys him all the things that money can get for him, so he will not be unhappy."

"But he'd rather have his mother than anything else in the whole world," said Tommy, looking up at his mother through his tears; "he told me so and he cries every night when he goes to bed, and no one tells him a story or tucks him in his bed same as you do me."

"Poor little Freddie, we must be very kind to him and do all we can to make him happy," said Tommy's mother, "and you will never again want anything Freddie has, will you, or be unhappy because you cannot have as much as he has?"

"No, mother, I won't," replied Tommy, hugging her tight; "I rather be your little boy and live here with you and father than have all the toys in the world, or a watch, or a music box, or anything."

Tomorrow's story: "Johnnie's Circus."

Film Shown At Capitol Has Real "Punch," Declares Times' Writer.

UP in the office of Superintendent Elliott Woods, of the Capitol building, Director William Hornaday, of the Bronx, New York Zoo, is today showing one of the most remarkable and useful educational motion picture films that has ever been exhibited. It is probably the strongest melodramatic photoplay ever taken, for the reason that every scene is real, not the figment of some author's brain. It tells the story of maternal constancy, devotion and sacrifice, and is alive with poignant interest from start to finish. It belongs to that type of film known as editorial, and has just been produced by Pathe Freres, and is known as "The Story of a Mother's Love."

It certainly is a film with a "punch," for it is powerful, true, gripping, beautiful, and pathetic. Dr. Hornaday is showing it in the hope of moving the lawmakers at the Capitol to pass a law abolishing the wearing of the cigarette by the fair sex. The film shows exactly how the cigarettes are procured, and at what cost to the mothers and children of the snowy heron.

Other Educational Films Also Interesting. Other educational films recently released by Pathe Freres are almost as interesting and valuable as this. There is a current film which combines an industrial, an athletic, and a travel subject. In the first section of "Forrestal's" there is shown how some of the world's finest porcelain is manufactured, the picture taking the audience to Limoges, France.

This is followed by the travel film, which takes one through France on the roads of the Dauphine. The fine hand coloring of these scenes adds materially to their already remarkable beauty.

The "Exercise of the Twenty-third French Dragoon," the third section of this very entertaining film, shows the athletic drill of one of France's crack military regiments. There are few better athletic bodies of men than this regiment.

Another educational film is entitled "A Knife of Fire," and is being produced by the Edison Company. It shows how steel is welded and cut today, and it also illustrates the use of the oxygraph, an apparatus operated by acetylene gas and oxygen. The jet of flame thus generated is 3,200 degrees F., and it is shown welding together two pieces of steel in a miraculous manner.

Armor Plate Cut By Tiny Flame. The oxygraph is also shown cutting out fancy figures from half-inch sheets of steel, as one would cut cardboard with a sharp knife; then a piece of the ornament, only obtainable during the breeding season of the white heron, is obtained, and how, with the killing of the mother birds, the little fledglings are left alone to perish of starvation.

No one must make the mistake of thinking that the film is a disagreeable one. It is merely a statement of clear facts, but a masterpiece nevertheless, that is bound to sweep the country with a wave of sympathetic understanding of the plight of the beautiful birds that will probably result in the necessary legislation for their protection. Truly this picture is an editorial of the most useful and convincing type.

Another film which deals with a rarely treated but very necessary educational subject is the one entitled "Jh Jhu." This art of self-defense, taught by the Japanese, is presented as effectively forestalling the attacks of armed marauders. In the film an expert demonstrates the innumerable holds obtainable, and he and his assistants go through the performance slowly, so that all who see may know and understand. The film has the delightful thrill that possesses one whenever a contest of skill is witnessed.

STRONG WORDS From a Doctor with 40 Years Experience.

"In my 40 years' experience as a teacher and practitioner along hygienic lines," says a Calif. physician, "I have never found a food to compare with Grape-Nuts for the benefit of the general health of all classes of people."

"I have recommended Grape-Nuts for a number of years to patients with the greatest success and every year's experience makes me more enthusiastic regarding its use."

"I make it a rule to always recommend Grape-Nuts, and Postum in place of coffee, when giving my patients instructions as to diet, for I know both Grape-Nuts and Postum can be digested by anyone."

"As for myself, when engaged in much mental work my diet twice a day consists of Grape-Nuts and rich cream. I find it just the thing to build up and keep the brain in good working order."

"In addition, Grape-Nuts always keeps the digestive organs in a perfect, healthy tone." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Strong endorsements like the above from physicians all over the country have stamped Grape-Nuts the most scientific food in the world.
